Hancock residents find relatives unharmed by Tuesday earthquake

BY DENA BISNETTE

Several Hancock County residents whose relatives live in the San Francisco area have reported that their family members were unharmed in Tuesday's earthquake.

The earthquake, which left 2,000 people injured, an estimated 250 with 31 bodies recovered by Friday morning, and about $2.87 million in property damage, collapsed freeways and the Bay Bridge between San Francisco and Oakland. It interrupted the World Series at Candlestick Park.

Maxine Jaquith's two daughters live in the earthquake area.

Amy Jaquith lives near Candlestick Park and the airport the earthquake affected and had just arrived home from her job in Palo Alto when the tremors began. Her car shook and her apartment building rocked, throwing the contents around, but he major inconvenience turned out to be loss of utilities for a day.

Jaquith's other daughter, Brenda Starr, lives in Twin Peaks. She was far enough away that the only damage at her home consisted of a broken vase.

However, Starr had left her job a little early that day and had passed over one of the freeways that collapsed only about 15 minutes before the quake destroyed it.

Jaquith was able to get information about both her daughters by 10 p.m. Tuesday night.

Betty and P.J. Benvenuti of Bay St. Louis have two children living in the quake area.

Their son Peter was on the 31st floor of an office building talking to someone in San Francisco on the telephone.

He later told his mother that he said something like, "I think we're having an earthquake" and got under his desk to continue his phone conversation, which ended when the electricity went off.

With no elevators, he climbed 31 flights of stairs, then he and a friend found that their biggest difficulty was going to be getting home to Oakland.

Finally borrowing a car, the two men made it back to Oakland at about 2 a.m. by driving

Waveland couple returns to Hugo assistance effort

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two Waveland residents who came home from assisting Hurricane Hugo victims in South Carolina have gone back.

They say they'll be staying there until no one in Sumpter County needs their help any more.

Jessica and Joe Gambino were sent home briefly last week due to the possibility that Hurricane Jerry might hit the Gulf Coast.

Both spent much of their time back home at the Hancock County Red Cross office in the Waveland Civic Center, helping Director Jeanne Garcia prepare for the next storm by using what they had learned in Sumpter County.

This time, the Gambinos expect to stay in Sumpter County for about three weeks. The government assistance programs, such as Federal Emergency Management Agency, have already left.

Jessica called the situation there "critical."

"The Red Cross is looking at 13,000 homes that have been affected. As of today, we've seen only 2,200 of these families," she said Monday. "2,000 of their homes were totally destroyed."

Many of the people who lost homes are living with family and friends, but the shelters had to be reopened for those who had nowhere else to go.

"Some of the volunteers working with us have homes with no roofs," her husband said.

The two volunteers explained that utility service has been restored and children returned to school within a week, but small areas which have been without any assistance are still being found. Red Cross disaster teams were still setting up additional family service centers last week.

Chase ends in death, spilled aviation fuel

BY D.C. HARVILL

A high-speed chase on Interstate 10 in Hancock County Saturday morning ended in an accident that claimed the life of one man and overturned a tanker truck loaded with aviation fuel, requiring that traffic be rerouted until late in the day.

At press time, the identity of the deceased was being withheld pending notification of the next of kin.

At approximately 8:30 a.m. the Harrison County Sheriff's Department issued an All Points Bulletin on a suspect wanted for armed robbery in d'Iberville.

Shortly after setting up a road block at the Harrison-Hancock County line, Mississippi Trooper Eugene Little observed a westbound, brown 1989 Pontiac that fit the description of the vehicle used by the armed robber, according to Mississippi Highway Patrol Information Officer Joe Gazzo.

After stopping the car near Diamondhead, Little instructed the driver to get out of the car with his hands up. The driver put the vehicle into gear and fled, according to Gazzo.

The chase that followed reached speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour, with the Pontiac passing cars by running onto the median.

Approximately two miles west of State 603, the Pontiac went out of control, crossing the median into the Eastbound lane, where it struck and flipped the tanker truck.

The point of impact was near the truck's rear wheels, according to Gazzo.

The driver of the automobile was killed on impact. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Hancock County Medical Examiner Harold Stiglet.

Fuel leaking from one of the truck's valves ignited. The driver of another freight truck, however, stopped and extinguished it before it got out of control, Gazzo said.

The driver of the overturned truck, Harold Reems Jr., 36, of Walker, La. was taken to Slidell Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released for minor injuries.

The truck is owned by Stephen Trucking of Bossier City, La.

According to Gazzo, Walker had heard about the chase from other truckers over his CB radio and had seen the patrol car and the Pontiac coming in the Westbound lane, but was surprised when the car crossed the median and struck him.

The Pontiac reportedly had been stolen from Avis Rent-A-Car in Redwood, Calif., Gazzo said.

Another tanker was called to remove the wrecked truck cargo and a clean up crew from Slidell was brought in to assist with the spilled fuel.

From the time of the accident until late Saturday, traffic was rerouted via State 607 to Highway 90 then back to the interstate along State 603.

Thursday blaze levels Henderson Point home

BY D.C. HARVILL

A fire fanned by high winds Thursday afternoon consumed a Henderson Point residence, spewing a stream of billowing, black smoke that was visible for miles.

The large, raised home of Grant and Shawn Kohnke at 103 Third Avenue was totally engulfed by flames when the Henderson Point Fire Department arrived.

No one was home at the time of the fire.

Due to 35 to 40 mile per hour winds, the fire spread throughout the house rapidly, according to Assistant Fire Chief David Downs.

"When I got there it was totally involved. Everything that could burn was burning when I arrived," said Downs, first at the scene.

Two automobiles parked beneath the structure, an Oldsmobile Cutlass Sierra and an Audi 5000, also were destroyed by the fire, Downs said.

The fire emitted a profusion of black because it was burning very rapidly and therefore inefficiently.

The property damage is estimated at $150,000, excluding the value of the automobiles, according to Downs.

All the windows in an adjacent house that faced the burning structure were cracked by the heat, Downs said.

"Our only concern was to save the house next door. It is amazing we didn't lose two houses to that fire," he said.

"David (Downs) really should be credited with saving the house next door. He arrived at the scene first and set up a screen (a barrier of water spray) that prevented the fire from spreading. He did everything right," Capt. Lessi Ladner of the Pass Christian Fire Department said.

Four units and 25 firefighters from Henderson Point and Pass Christian Fire Department responded to the 12:30 p.m. blaze. Approximately 25,000 gallons of water were used to bring the fire under control.

The fire is being investigated by the Harrison County Sheriff's Department's arson investigator.

A Boat Named
Justin One

This boat is made with pride, and tender loving care; this is a story I would like to share.

You see, I lost my first grandson three years ago. This boat is filled with love I never got to show.

I had so many plans just for him and me,

To go out on the seas and look at God's great sky,

To show him how to catch a fish,

To close his eyes and make a wish.

So many things were meant for him.

His life was oh so short.

One thing I truly say, he lives within my heart.

When I close my eyes and I say a prayer,

I know my grandson hears me.

And he knows I care, even though he's gone, with me he still remains.

For every time I leave the pier, everyone will see his name.

This boat, its name is Justin One, named with love after my grandson.

You are with me always.

Love,

St. Augustine's Father Powell dies

By Father Jerome LeDoux

Bay St. Louis lost one of its well-known and beloved residents on Monday, October 16, when Father Elmer Sylvester Powell, SVD, succumbed to a long bout with emphysema and cancer.

Beginning with June, 1959, Elmer Sylvester Powell was a familiar sight around the town of Bay St. Louis where he had acquired many good friends. He was a major seminarian then, and charmed everyone with his ebullient, flamboyant personality. He had come here in 1942, but was little known then because he was in the less-exposed high school seminary.

Elmer Sylvester Powell was born of Cora Connor and Arthur Powell Sr. on August 3, 1919 in the Centropolis subdivision of Kansas City, Mo. He did his elementary, middle and high school studies in the public schools of Kansas City.

Throughout these early years, he was brought up as a Protestant. While studying at a Kansas City junior college, he became interested in world history, especially in the Renaissance popes. This study led to an interest in the Catholic Church, which he embraced as a convert at the age of 18.

"After a year in the Catholic Church," he wrote, "I had a desire to study for the priesthood. My previous interest was in journalism, but the priesthood, a worldwide institution, changed my mind. I had always wanted to pursue a profession in which I could help and love the greatest amount of people."

Elmer entered St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis in September, 1942, and, although he had already started junior college in Kansas City, he decided to repeat high school for the sake of seminary training and of Latin and Greek.

Immediately after high school, he made his two-year novitiate in Techny, Ill. 1946-48, after which he went to Epworth, Iowa to do what was then known as the Juniorate, or first two years of college.

In June, 1950, Elmer returned to St. Augustine Seminary, this time the Major Seminary, with four white classmates: Edward Baur, Bernard Keller, John Sheerin and Francis Theriault. This marked the first true integration of the Major Seminary at Bay St. Louis, although there had been one or the other white minor seminarians almost from the beginning of the Minor Seminary.

He completed his last two years of college there, then his four years of theology. In 1954, he made his final vows as a member of the Society of the Divine Word. He was ordained a priest by Bishop Maurice Schexnayder, D.D. on June 24, 1955.

Father Powell enjoyed the blessings and excitement of a great and varied number of assignments:

Appointed assistant prefect of minor seminarians and English teacher at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis, in 1956; associate editor of "St. Augustine's Messenger" in 1957;

First call to Rome in 1958, as secretary of English correspondence for Father John Schuette, S.V.D., Superior General; interim secretary and "front man" for Bishop Joseph Bowers, S.V.D., D.D., in Ghana, West Africa, in 1961; recalled to U.S. in 1962 by Provincial Robert

Hunter, S.V.D. to be the first S.V.D. pastor of St. Paul the Apostle Church in Baton Rouge, subsequent to Bishop Robert E. Tracy, inviting the S.V.D. into the newly-formed Diocese of Baton Rouge;

Second call to Rome as vice-rector of St. Peter Pontifical College, under the Propaganda Fide in 1969; at the request of John Cardinal Krol, assigned to the Archdiocese of Philadelphia in 1972 as executive director of CORDUM (Committee on Research and Development of Urban Ministry) and as the archdiocesan director of the Campaign for Human Development;

Member of the board of trustees of Jesuit-run St. Joseph University in Philadelphia; at the request of Bishop Raymond Lessard, assigned for one year to Savannah, Ga. in 1975 to assist while the bishop revamped the diocese;

Assigned to be director of Holy Rosary Institute in Lafayette, assigned to St. Teresa of Avila Church in Washington, D.C. in 1978 for an intended sabbatical, but, with the heavy parish load, became the associate pastor for two years;

Assigned as pastor of St. Rita Church in Indianapolis in 1980; did the Nemi course from January 1983 to May 1984 for theological and spiritual update; appointed associate pastor of Our Lady of the Gardens Church in Altgeld Gardens, Chicago; retired to St. Paul the Apostle Church in Baton Rouge, July 1, 1987.

On Ascension Thursday, May 15, 1988, Father Powell was taken to Our Lady of the Lake Hospital in Baton Rouge, where he was diagnosed as suffering from acute emphysema as well as severe myeloma, or cancer of the bone. When he was able to move about, he returned to Bay St. Louis to retire there, where his cancer went into remission through chemotherapy sessions.

The cancer became active again in late September, 1989, soon leading to his death at 11:15 p.m. of October 16, 1989.

Peter's wife, a judge who spends part of her time in Los Angeles, got stranded at the airport there and had difficulty reaching her husband to make certain their three children were all right, but finally got through by telephone. She was able to catch a flight home in the morning.

His sister Mary Beth Benvenutti was at her job at Merritt College in Oakland, her mother said. Her home was not affected because it is in Walnut Creek, not near the area the earthquake hit.

She also got under her desk when the tremors began.

"She was badly shaken physically and emotionally, and she told me she didn't understand that," her mother said.

"I told her it was because she'd lived through a hurricane. She went through Camille, and after you've been through something like that, you really feel for these people."

Betsy Nolan of Diamondhead has a number of relatives in California, including her parents. One of her mother's co-workers lost a daughter, who was killed when the freeway collapsed. Other than that, her family was not affected.

Her mother, Maria Win-nburg, lives in Santa Clara.

Her father, Frank Win-nburg, was standing on his patio in Palo Alto with a neighbor when the quake hit.

Both make wine and they were uncorking a new bottle of Winnburg's product when the earth shook.

"What'd you put in that wine, Frank?" the other man asked. Nolan said her father lost communications when the electricity went off and did not know how bad the earthquake had been until he called.

She had visited California last week and had toured the Marina area that was destroyed by the earthquake.

"It was beautiful. I said that if there was anywhere in California I would want to live, that would probably be the place. Now it's all been destroyed," she commented.

Walter James Phillips, a Bay St. Louis attorney, has a son and a granddaughter living in San Jose, closer to the quake's epicenter.

His son, Lars Phillips, reported no problems except a broken window, and his granddaughter, Lisa, said her apartment was undamaged.

What worried Phillips most was being unable to get through to them on the telephone. When he reached them Wednesday night, he learned that they had been able to call out but the lines were overloaded, and they had not been able to receive incoming calls.

By late Friday, The Sea Coast Echo had not received any reports of deaths or injuries from Hancock County residents with family members in the earthquake area.

RELIGION

ON THE BIBLE

By Minister
Charlie Buckley

Will you get home in time?

A few years ago, the story was circulated of a man who was at work when news came of a severe winter storm approaching. The superintendent dismissed all employees early so that they could get home before the storm struck.

But, one man made light of the warning and used his time for an extra drink at the bar on his way home. While he was yet two or three miles from home, the storm broke in all its fury, with gale winds creating blizzard conditions and the snow blowing up deep drifts with amazing speed.

His car stalled, and knowing that he had to be near his house, he got out and tried to walk the rest of the way. But he became blinded by the snow, having no sense of direction, and in the confusion he walked away from his house and into a field.

He was found the next day, frozen to death and with his body nearly covered with snow. He waited too long to go home, preferring the pleasures of a sensual appetite rather than the safety and companionship of home.

There are a lot of people today who are living dangerously, waiting too long before going home! Our Father in heaven has from the time of Adam and Eve, warned us of the gathering storm of judgement of sin.

He sent His prophets, His son, His Spirit and is sending His church to warn the world of the coming judgement. (Hebrews 1:1,2)

"God, having of old time spoken unto the fathers in the prophets by divers portions and in divers manners, hath at the end of these days spoken unto us in His Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, through whom he also made the worlds."

Not only does God warn us of the coming judgement, he also encourages us to heed His warning. (Hebrews 2:1-4)

"Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things that were heard, lest haply we drift away from them. For if the word spoken through angels proved steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward."

"How shall we escape, if we neglect so great a salvation? Which having at the first been spoken through the Lord, was confirmed unto us by them that heard; God also bearing witness with them, both by signs and wonders, and by manifold powers, and by gifts of the Holy Spirit, according to his own will."

With loving urgency, God pleads with all men, everywhere to repent, (Acts 17:30), because he has appointed a day when he will judge the world by Jesus Christ, (2 Timothy 4:1-8). Still many are waiting, drinks and others. Added attractions, such as haunted house, face paintings, fortune telling, prize bingo, spacewalk and pumpkin-costume contests will be featured.

"Everyone is invited to come to the Halloween Carnival for fun, excitement and a night of family pleasure," said a Gulfview spokesman.

Gulfview PTC to host Halloween Carnival delaying their departure from sin, thinking that they have plenty of time to turn themselves toward home and safety.

How sad to know that there are some who will make it almost home, but will be lost nonetheless because they waited too long before going home. (Matthew 7:21-23)

"Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father who is in heaven. Many shall say to me that day, Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy by thy name, and by thy name cast out demons, and by thy name do many mighty works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity."

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Many folks from the area are making the journey to Washington, D.C. for the inauguration of U.S. Congressman-elect Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis, which is scheduled for Tuesday.

We can go back many years and not recall a U.S. Congressman being elected from Hancock County.

We are, of course, aware that Hancock County was once a much larger county many years ago when it included Harrison, Stone and Pearl River counties.

I know it will be a great experience for those who go to Washington for the inauguration.

It has been several years, but I did spend 30 months while in the Army stationed in Arlington, Va., which is across the river from our nation's capital.

We know those attending the inauguration will have stories to tell for the rest of their lives.

This will be a historical mark for Hancock County and we wish soon-to-be U.S. Congressman Gene Taylor the best for many years to come.

The crisp change in weather caught many of us by surprise, especially coming so early in the season.

I hope this is not the sign that we will have a cold winter for our areas, as I am a warm weather person myself.

One thing the winds did do was help in the harvest of pecans.

I have seen many folks gathering their crop of pecans, as Jane and I have also been doing.

It seems some folks in the area are getting a good crop this year.

It seems there will be a number of candidates seeking to fill the vacancy created by State Senator Gene Taylor.

We know of three persons who will be running for the State Senate and feel there will be others before the filing papers have to be in Jackson Tuesday.

It will be a very short and fast election with the voting date being November 7.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

Legislature may prevent convicted from seeking office

Maybe, just maybe, the 1990 Legislature is finally going to do something about preventing officeholders convicted of federal crimes from running to get their old jobs back once they're out of prison.

Many Mississippians have been astounded to learn, in recent years that under a loophole in the state Constitution, conviction of a felony in federal court is no barrier to being elected to a public office.

It's possible now, for example, that some of the dozens of supervisors nabbed in the FBI "Operation Pretense" trial two years could be asking the voters to put them back in office when elections roll around in 1991.

This anomaly stems from a 1965 ruling by the state Supreme Court that Section 44 of the constitution which says no person convicted of bribery, perjury or other infamous crimes may hold public office only applied to convictions in state courts.

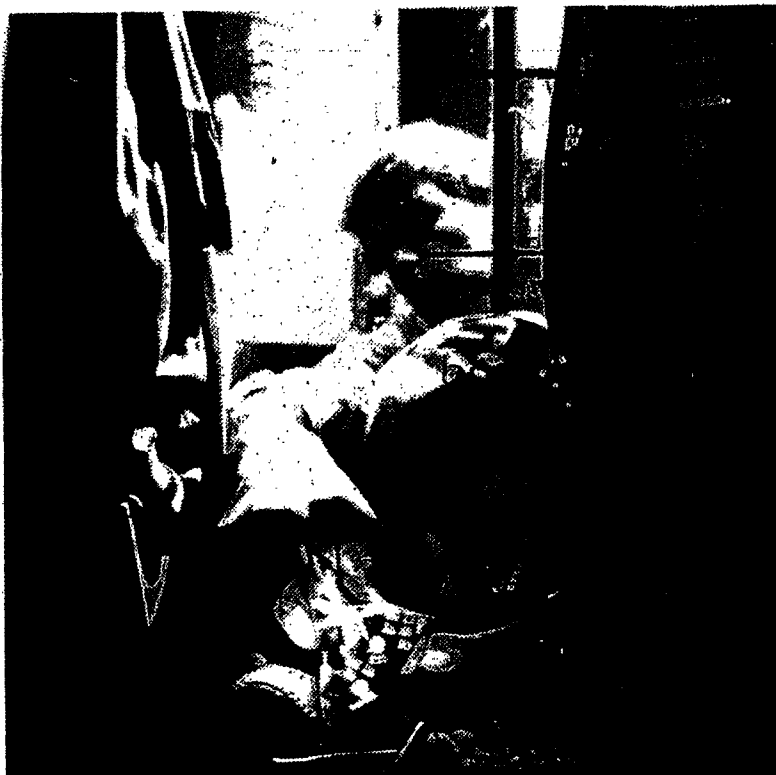

There have already been several instances where federally convicted Mississippi politicians have tried to make political comebacks. The most ridiculous case was in 1987 when a former sheriff of Itawamba County after spending time in federal prison for bribery almost won re-election, even though under federal firearms laws he could not carry a gun.

A constitutional amendment to include federal felonies, and felonies committed in other states, as a barrier to holding office under Section 44 made it through the Senate in the 1989 regular session, but hit a snag in a House committee and died.

The hangup came in a subcommittee of the House Constitution committee where one member was believed to have blocked the measure because it would have barred several of his friends in his county from again seeking office.

Opportunities in Mississippi are lighting up across state

All we need to do is look around to see the opportunities that are lighting up Mississippi.

Whether it's Peavey Electronics in East Mississippi; the furniture industry or rocket production in Northeast Mississippi; a bumper crop of catfish in the Delta; shipbuilding or the Stennis Space Center on the Coast; or a timber renaissance in the Golden Triangle—Mississippi is creating an "economic greenhouse" for our people.

We can see this progress slowly but surely around us. And so can the rest of America.

INC. Magazine recently ranked the 50 states' economic climate. Mississippi jumped over four states to rank 34th in the country. Our state was identified as one of 11 states that have steadily moved up due to improvement in their economic climates.

Ranking behind Mississippi were Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, West Virginia, New Mexico, Arkansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Idaho, Louisiana, South Dakota, Oklahoma, North Dakota, Montana, Alaska and Wyoming.

These rankings were based on factors such as job creation and the start-up of new companies. Mississippi is clearly holding its own. The challenge we face between now and the turn of the century is, "How do we create an economic climate in Mississippi that is among the very best in America?"

We know the answer to that question. We must take stout and strong steps to make sure that when the high quality jobs are there, we have the high-quality work force to fill them.

Experience tells us that when a business decides to move, expand or increase production; those who make the decisions want to know about teachers as well as taxes, and education as well as transportation. They want to know about the quality of schools in their district as well as the quality of housing in their community.

Just recently a company approached us. This company picked three possible sites for a new location. The first choice was in Mississippi, the second choice was in Mississippi, and the third choice was in Texas.

Which site did the company choose? It was Texas because the company's executives thought Texas had a stronger commitment to education.

We have gotten that company to reconsider their decision. What worries me more are the companies we never hear about; the ones that pass us by.

There is something we can do about it. It is called, "Mississippi's BEST—Better Education for Success Tomorrow." Mississippi's BEST contains seven goals that, if achieved, will give our state a world-class system of education by the year 2001. We will release details on how Mississippi can achieve these goals on Oct. 25.

The people of Mississippi have shown tremendous support for strong steps to improve our schools. The call for a world-class education is not a challenge from any political leader to the people. Instead, it is a demand the people have made of their political leaders. We have waited long enough. It is time to act.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Engineer takes issue with NASA ASRM fact sheet

To the Editor,

This letter pertains to an article published in the Sea Coast Echo on Thursday, Oct. 19, entitled "NASA issues ASRM environmental fact sheet."

Since I know others will be addressing NASA's "fact sheet," I'll only dwell on a few of the points presented in the "fact sheet."

The first two statements under "Purpose" are:

"The Advanced Solid Rocket Motor (ASRM) program is essential to the continued launch of the Space Shuttle into the year 2000 and beyond," and, "Use of the redesigned motors in the shuttle program in the mid-1990s will greatly improve flight safety, reliability, and performance."

From an article in "News & Comments," Science, Vol. 244, I have learned that on March 28, NASA's own prestigious Aeronautic Safety Advisory Panel, chaired by Joseph Sutter, a retired Boeing vice president, advised James Fletcher, while still administrator of NASA; Richard Truly, current NASA administrator; and James R. Thompson Jr., at the time director, Marshall Space Flight Center (MSFC), and now deputy administrator for NASA, that NASA ought to consider scrapping a $1.2 billion plan to rebuild Shuttle's rocket boosters.

A better strategy, according to Mr. Sutter, would be to spend the $1 to $2 billion on an innovative liquid engine technology or a big unmanned cargo bay for the shuttle. This does not sound as if the ASRM is essential!

The article continues to relate Mr. Sutter's concern that while a new solid rocket motor design (ASRM) may remove old flaws identified as cause of the Challenger accident (the O-rings, for example), it would introduce new ones. As the Sutter panel told NASA, statistically speaking a tested rocket is much safer than an untested one, and scores of old rockets will have been tested on live flights (the latest of which was launched Oct. 18, 1989) before the first of the new rockets will be ready for lab checkout in 1994.

Mr. Sutter pointed out that NASA has already done something about problems on the solid rockets, having spent more than $1 billion to fix them. This does not sound like the ASRM is safer and more reliable!

By the way, Sutter's panel had related the same story to NASA the year before. Accordingly, it is clear that there are alternatives to the ASRM, which are to use the present SRM (and keep testing it in Utah, White Sands Missile Range or some other desert spot) or to develop a large liquid booster.

Continuing with the "fact sheet," under "Location," it reads: "the ASRM program further cements Stennis' role as the nation's premiere test facility for large propulsion systems development testing and establishes SSC as the test center for all testing and flight certification of the Shuttle's propulsion system."

Personally, I am not interested in SSC's pecking order in test center eminence at the expense of my family, friends and environment.

I would like to make one more observation and let the many others be addressed by others. Under "Test Conditions," the NASA "fact sheet" states:

"Nasa will use up-to-the minute weather information before, during and after the test to ensure that proper atmospheric conditions are present."

How on earth will determining weather conditions during a firing which can not be terminated once it is started, and observing weather conditions after the fact going to "ensure that proper atmospheric conditions are present?" Might they then have to tell us to "head for the hills?"

I would like to assure the readers that I am not without some credentials. I am a registered professional engineer in the state of Mississippi.

During 20 years of my working career I was involved with missile and rockets beginning with the design of tail shelters for the Redstone and Jupiter missiles; it included five years at MTF (now SSC) where I had the responsibility for the static firing, checkout and acceptance of the S-IC flight stages for the "moon rocket."

Later, I was deputy director of the shuttle construction office in Huntsville for four years, managing modifications to old Saturn facilities and construction of new ones for the shuttle at Huntsville, Michoud, MTF (SSC), in California and at Wasatch in Utah for the SRM.

Hancock taxpayer wants more input

To the Editor:

A recent Sea Coast Echo featured an article on an increase in taxes for Hancock County—not all of Hancock County, mind you, just the homeowners.

This article goes on to explain the reasons for this hike which are:

- 1) a state mandated purchasing department;
- 2) an increase in health insurance for employees;
- 3) a new recreation department;
- 4) a lawsuit against Hancock County due to a fire in the Hancock County Jail.

Now, no one pays my health insurance for me, I have never seen an article about this new recreation center I'm paying for, and I didn't cause that fire in the "jailhouse."

This article compares the cost of this increase to the homeowner as being just $1.30 a day; the cost of a pack of cigarettes. This cost, by my calculating (1.30 a day x 365 days a year) comes to a healthy sum of $474.50.

To an individual whose salary is ample, this may not be a hardship, but to those of us who struggle to make ends meet, this is another burden—one we can't afford.

These meetings are scheduled during a normal workday (for most of us) so we aren't able or aren't invited to attend.

We have no voice in the decision process—this is made by those in public office. Everything is forced on us! I believe we should have a voice to share in this decision making.

The comparison made here is ludicrous! And just for the record—I don't smoke.

In the state of Mississippi one pays enough in the way of taxes.

Reunion publicity boosted attendance

To the Editor,

As you are aware there was a reunion of Bay High School students and friends the weekend of September 22. This was a great get-together organized by Hubert Cowand and his super assistants: Mrs. Cowand, Bertha Morris, Beverly Potts, Pat Murphy, and Jim Evans. All deserve special thanks for their untiring efforts in this monumental task which required much time, work, planning and coordination. It was a super idea and a super event.

I would like to express thanks to you and your staff for publishing the special articles about the reunion—the articles spread the word to far away places and kept the interest and enthusiasm at peak level. This deed contributed immensely to making the reunion a memorable occasion—an occasion that enabled many to renew friendships as well as make new ones.

I heard many comments from former students that "they read about the reunion" in the Echo.

Thanks! You provided a great community service in connection with the 1989 Bay High School reunion.

Everything is good and bad, even elections and cold weather

Everybody's talking about the election--and about not wanting to get up on a cold morning.

Those were the topics of conversation on Friday morning at The Sea Coast Echo. I can relate to them both. I was pleased that the home team is going to Washington and I also had trouble deciding to get up that morning.

I had gotten my electric blanket out too early in the season, before my body had had time to adjust to colder weather, and I was just plain enjoying it too much.

After I turned the alarm clock off--again--somebody else made the decision about getting up before I had to do it. My little dog Corky Scott made up his mind that it was time for me to get up.

He's an insistent little character and, unfortunately, he is a good enough jumper to get up on the bed. Corky hates the sound of the alarm clock we have and, if my husband isn't there to do it, that dog wakes me up just so I'll shut it off.

On this particular morning, the little furball found a new way. He grabbed the wire for the blanket in his teeth; I suppose he was trying to pull the blanket off the bed but he pulled the plug.

"Okay, canine, you win. I'm up. It's cold but I'm up. Get me my slippers. Hey, where are you going with those slippers? Get back here!" That's the kind of conversation that goes on in my house after my husband has left. Anybody listening would think a nut lives there.

Actually, just as my little pet does, I prefer colder weather to heat and humidity. All my best clothing is designed for colder weather. Who can wear a tailored blazer with shoulder pads in the heat? And while men can wear boots all year if they want to, the dressier types look kind of funny on women in the summer, and I've been looking forward to getting my feet back into some good leather.

My car is even designed for colder weather. It has a heating system, but the air conditioner, which was an add-on in the first place, committed suicide.

Other than Fourth of July, my favorite holidays are during the cold season. So, by tradition at least, is my favorite sport--football.

I hate mowing lawns but raking leaves is kind of fun, especially if you forget you're a grown-up for a little while and take a flying leap into the piled-up leaves, or if you have kids around and get to watch them do it.

I like the food people prepare for colder weather, too. I like red beans and rice, home-made chicken soup, turkey with oyster dressing and that kind of thing. I get tired of the salads I've been trying to eat all summer.

There are a few things I don't like about the cold. Nobody likes the sniffles that seem to start as the weather changes, the smell when the heater goes on for the first time and what the wind does to hair that isn't sprayed stiff. The shorter daylight hours, too, seem to bring out the hibernation instinct in some of us.

There are a few things I will miss about the warmer weather. I'm sure other people will join me in missing outdoor festivals, getting away without wearing nylons sometimes and getting home from work before dark. What can be done in the garden and I won't be able to hear the neighbor's children having fun in their pool.

There are other things--riding in convertibles with the top down, the physiques on the beach and the pleasant hum certain types of bugs make in the evenings.

I won't miss mosquito bites or having my clothes stick to me because it's so hot and damp, and I'm sure no one else will. I also won't miss the stuff that is growing in my coffee cup at the office on Mondays when I've forgotten about my Friday coffee.

Well, just as elections have their winners and losers, everything has its good side and its bad side, especially the weather. But having at least two sides to everything gives us all something to talk about and gives us all a reason to get up in the morning, even if it's cold.

Hugo

At the time the couple left Sumpter County, the Red Cross had 1,285 volunteers, 94 chapter employees, 16 national headquarters staff members, 16 national disaster reserve staff members and 65 emergency rescue vehicles operating in four states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

About 89,964 people had been housed in shelters, and 596,063 meals had been served. Volunteers have also distributed vouchers for such items as food, clean-up materials and plastic for damaged roofs through the 26 family service centers already open.

Joe explained that one of the problems people in Sumpter County, where Red Cross workers are putting in 12-hour days to handle about 50 caseloads per day, is presenting proper identification.

Identification is required before assistance can be provided, and in many cases, people have no papers because they blew away with the house. Local utility companies are helping by supplying back copies of billings, but there are still some problems.

"We know there is some double and triple dipping going on, but we've done everything we can to prevent it short of photographing each person," said Jessica. "That may be the next step."

Looting became a problem before the National Guard came in to help, and much of that did involve stolen papers. Many people have come in and found that someone using their identification has already been there.

No one has been turned down, but these problems are complicating matters for both the volunteers and the hurricane victims, she added.

Once a person gets his identification together, he can obtain direct assistance or the vouchers for the items he needs and take them to local merchants.

"That way, we're able to put some money back into the local economy," Joe explained.

About $400,000 was spent in Sumpter County during the first three weeks after the storm.

The National Red Cross has allocated $42 million for the storm and donations are still needed. To make one through the local chapter, donors can mark their contributions Hurricane Hugo and mail them to Hancock County Red Cross, 335A Coleman Ave., Waveland, MS 39576.

The Gambinos said the community in which they are working is 140 miles inland and is not considered a hurricane area. No one was evacuated and most people were in their homes when the storm hit.

In addition, 71 tornadoes were spun off the hurricane winds and they caused much of the damage.

The stories the two volunteers are hearing sound like something from Hurricane Camille:

—One man told how he had survived by turning his sofa over and crawling under it. His home was demolished around him.

—One construction worker reported back to his job in a flannel shirt, overalls and a pair of slippers. He had nothing else. The Red Cross volunteers got him more clothing and a pair of steel-toed boots so he could help in rebuilding efforts.

—Four women in a trailer became frightened by the high winds, threw quilts over their heads and went out to a car, where they huddled on the floorboards. In the morning, they found they could not recognize any landmarks, and the car was sitting on the concrete pad where the trailer had been.

—One elderly lady had 17 trees fall on her house during the storm. She was in it, but survived.

The aftermath of the storm is harder, in many ways, than the storm itself, Jessica said. A plague of yellowjackets has started and is causing some health problems.

In addition, many people are developing symptoms of stress the Senate measure last session will try again in the 1990 Legislature to pass his proposed amendment to close the loophole in Section 44.

"This issue is more timely than ever because of the surge in the federal indictments and convictions of public officeholders and the fact that we have a general election coming up year after next," Guerieri said.

"If we don't amend the constitution and correct this flaw in 1990, we could find a lot of those convicted in federal court on the ballot in 1991 running for their old jobs," he declared.

After four of the five supervisors in his home county of De Soto were convicted on federal felony charges in the early 1980s, Guerieri had begun introducing a constitutional amendment to make federal convictions a disqualification for holding office. Last session was the first time he was able to get the measure through the Senate.

The three-term lawmaker said he was shocked by the failure of the House Constitution Committee to act on the Senate-passed measure in the 1989 session, thereby denying the full House to have a chance to vote on the bill.

"It's unfortunate that one or two individuals on a subcommittee could kill the measure without giving their colleagues the right to debate it and go on record," Guerieri said. "After all, this is a constitutional amendment, and the final decision will rest with the people themselves. I believe the electorate wants this loophole closed."

On the House side, Reps. John Reeves (D. Jackson) and Bill Denny (R. Jackson) have separately drafted their own constitutional amendments aimed at accomplishing the same goal as Guerieri, plus companion legislation.

"It doesn't matter to me whose bill passes, the important thing is that we pass it," said Reeves, who is vice-chairman of the House Constitution Committee. "We're going to keep it on the front-burner."

Reeves said he will ask Rep. Ed Perry, Oxford, chairman of the constitution committee, to assign the constitutional proposal on federal crimes to the subcommittee which Reeves heads, rather than the subcommittee where it died last session.

Denny said he has begun a house-to-house canvass of his district and each time he brings up the federal crimes bill. "Everyone I have talked with wants to know why we haven't done this before," he said.

A lot of other Mississippians are asking the same thing.

Father Johnson is a very organized, hands-on pastor. He attends all meetings, calls all the important shots, and gives the lectors, the choir and other ministers specific directions as to what they should do. Many parishioners like this tough, directive style of pastor. However, many consider him almost tyrannical.

By contrast, Father Brown believes that his parishioners should be given every opportunity to spawn ideas, to plan, to make decisions, and to perform whichever ministries are within their power to engage in, even to the partial exclusion of the pastor. Many parishioners like this. Others call Father Brown a weak pastor.

Father Thomas takes a middle course, allowing his parishioners to do almost everything, but delegating authority in each instance. The reaction to his style of ministry is also mixed, but it lacks the vehemence met by Fathers Brown and Johnson.

With a few slight variations

On Life

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

of these styles of ministry, each pastor sets his own course in an attempt to do what is best for the kingdom of God on earth as perceived by him in his parish.

Misunderstandings between pastor and flock are as old as religion and as new as the most types of people who comprise their parish.

Just as misunderstandings can grow out of personality differences, so do conflicts arise from the preference of parishioners for a given style of ministry, while the pastor opts for another.

There is no question here of recent church bazaar. Such misunderstandings are unavoidable to some extent, but both the pastor and the parishioners can do much to forestall them if they make allowances for differing personalities, cultures and styles.

Mind-sets, personal bent and personal tastes play the biggest role in the sometimes sharp conflicts between the parishioners themselves or between pastor and parishioners.

This situation has always

Understanding your pastor

been present in the Church, as we read in Paul:

"Let there be no factions... I have been informed... that you are quarreling among yourselves... One of you will say, 'I belong to Paul,' another, 'I belong to Apollos,' still another, 'Cephas has my allegiance,' and the fourth, 'I belong to Christ.' Has Christ, then, been divided into parts" (1 Cor. 1:10-13)?

Obviously, the early Christians were running behind the different evangelists according to their personal likings: Paul, the learned, profound teacher; Apollos, the charismatic preacher; Peter, the spontaneous, impetuous people-lover. Although there is nothing wrong with likes and dislikes, it is wrong to be divisive.

It may have not occurred to most Christians that there are several valid styles of ministry. It is the kind of thing which clerics and religious discuss among themselves, but not with the laity. And not even all religious and clerics are aware of or knowledgeable about these styles of ministry and their implications.

Different pastors are comfortable with a particular style or combination of styles of ministry according to their personality, their culture, and their view of the kingdom of God as Church, not to mention the right or wrong, since any style of ministry can succeed well, depending on local needs, and cultural and educational background and conditions.

Short of faith or morals, it makes no sense to canonize one style or method of procedure, whether in ministry or in liturgical worship. Whatever is the most efficient means to achieve the ends of ministry and worship in a given parish should be favored in that parish. That may differ sharply from church to church.

War Eagles topple high-ranked Hawks

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO
by MONICA MALLEY
The Hancock North Central Hawk's perfect record was scarred Friday night when the Wayne County War Eagles served them up a 15-6 defeat.

From the kickoff to the final horn, the game was suspenseful. The teams were evenly matched, defensively and offensively. The War Eagles, playing at home, however, were able to establish a slight offensive edge. After a scoreless first quarter, Wayne County's Lee Everett captured everyone's attention when he drove into the endzone from two yards out, putting the first score on the board with a 12-yard TD in the second period.

A two-point conversion by David McDougald upped the War Eagle's lead to 8-0.

The seventh-ranked Hawks in the third quarter, determined to retain their undefeated status, cropped Wayne County's lead to 8-6 with a Tirus Jackson TD from two yards.

With only minutes remaining in the game, McDougald stole the ball from a Hawk's running back at the Hawk 16 and took it in for a TD. A Chris Pitts PAT gave the War Eagles a 15-6 victory and a 5-3 record.

In their last home game of the regular season, the Hawks meet their cross county rivals, the Bay High Tigers. Kickoff will be 7:00 p.m.

Bay High loses to St. Martin, game ends in slugfest

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Bay High Tigers moved one step closer to a winless season Friday night, losing to the St. Martin Yellow Jackets 13-0.

In the first quarter Demetrius Mosely scored the first of the Yellow Jacket's two touchdowns. With the successful extra point St. Martin led the Tigers 7-0, a score that would stand until the third period.

The Tigers threatened to score once in the quarter, driving to within yards of the goal, only to turn over the ball.

The second quarter was dominated by interceptions.

The Yellow Jackets intercepted a Charley Mitchell pass only to have one of their own intercepted on the next play.

Shortly afterward, the Jacket's Evan Edison intercepted a Mitchell pass intended for Willie Moody.

In the third quarter, St. Martin upped their lead when Chris Maniscalco received a David Fayard pass and ran it in for a TD.

The Tigers blocked the extra point kick, holding the score at 13-0.

Later Maniscalco intercepted a Mitchell pass but, in spite of a spectacular sideline dash by Mosely, the Jackets could not get the score.

The Tiger's Paul Jordan was the only thing standing between the nimble Mosely and the TD.

The Tiger defense was able to strip quarterback Fayard of the ball late in the quarter but, in spite of an Adam Darendburg run to the 30 yard line, the Tigers had to be content with leaving empty handed.

As the game came to an end, sportsmanship went out the window. The two teams engaged in a slugfest on the field. Police, coaches and school officials had to assist in restoring. The brawl allegedly was sparked by a spectator who ran onto the field and slugged Bay High's coach, Dodd Lee.

Jr. Hawks best PRC, accept bowl bid

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO
by MONICA MALLEY

The Hancock North Central Junior High Hawks skunked Pearl River Central Junior High 12-0 Monday night at Hancock.

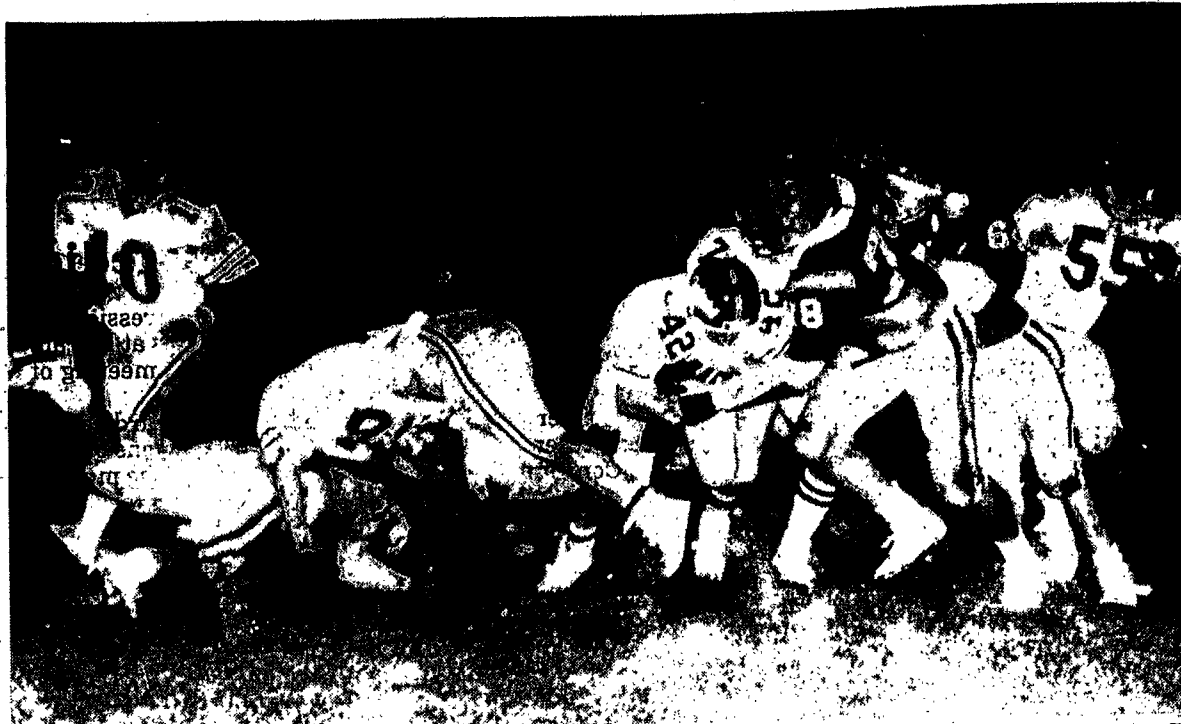

The scoring began when Hawks' tightend Byron Holbrook received a Scotty Davis pass on their 28 yard line and ran for a touchdown.

At the end of the half, the junior Hawks lead 6-0.

In the second half, halfback Lance Wedgeworth scored on a four-yard run to give the Hawks a 12-0 victory.

The Junior Hawks have accepted an invitation to play in the Annual Crab Bowl at Gulfview Elementary on November

The team's record for the season is 5-1. They have scored 88 points and have given up only

NO YOU DON'T—Tigers Billy Cuevas (#78) and David LeGros (#64) out step the Yellow Jacket's defense to tackle their runner. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

Warriors crush Rocks' post-season plans

Special to the Echo

By Tom Ackerman

I was only one point. But it was enough.

The D'Iberville Warriors went for two on a conversion, made it, and dashed the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws' playoff hopes 31-28 Friday night at D'Iberville. The three-point win by the Warriors sends the St. Martin Yellowjackets to the playoffs.

Three teams in Division 8 Class 4-A ended up with 2-2 records: St. Stanislaus, St. Martin and D'Iberville. A D'Iberville win over Stanislaus by 9 would have given the Warriors the berth. A win by three gave the slot to St. Martin.

The Warriors' key play came late in the game with only 4:56 left. Leading 29-28 on a touchdown, the Warriors went for two on the point-after conversion, the Warriors' first attempt faltered, but an offside penalty against SSC gave them a second chance a little closer to the goal line. The second attempt was successful, moving the score to the final three-point edge, 31-28.

The Rock-A-Chaws took an early lead in the game after holding D'Iberville on their first series. Taking the ball on first down at their own 25, Rock quarterback Cedric Smith passed to receiver Shannon Garrett who ran the distance for the score with 7:36 on the first quarter clock. Kicker Duncan Matheson scored the point after to give the Rock-A-Chaws a 7-0 lead.

D'Iberville answered the Rocks shortly thereafter with a field goal at 3:42 in the first quarter and a touchdown plus PAT with 6:25 showing on the second quarter clock.

With 2:53 left in the first half, D'Iberville scored again to take a 17-7 advantage into the locker room.

Receiving the ball to start the second half of play, the Rocks went to Gary Ponthieux on the ground because of an injury to Cedric Smith's throwing arm on the last play of the first half.

Moving the ball from the SSC 28 to the 36, then to the 39, Ponthieux broke loose to the Warriors 5. On the fourth play of the half, after picking up two first downs, Ponthieux crossed for the score at 10:20 on the clock.

Matheson's kick was on target for the point after, and the score stood at 17-14, D'Iberville.

A little more than two minutes later, after holding the Warriors to four plays, the Rock-A-Chaws took over at the D'Iberville 30 on a bad snap on a Warrior punt attempt. Ponthieux made the stop to set up SSC.

On their first down, Rock quarterback Smith made a short pitch to Garrett who ran for the TD with 8:03 left in the third quarter. Matheson kicked for the point to give the Rocks a 21-17 advantage.

Once again, D'Iberville matched play, and a little more than four minutes later took the lead 23-21 on a drive that started at their own 36.

Then, in the fourth quarter, the Rocks moved ahead on a Smith pass to Brian Martin from the Warrior 30. Matheson kicked, and the Rocks moved out 28-23.

With 4:56 left in the game, D'Iberville scored the final TD of the game and added the two-point play for the 31-28 win.

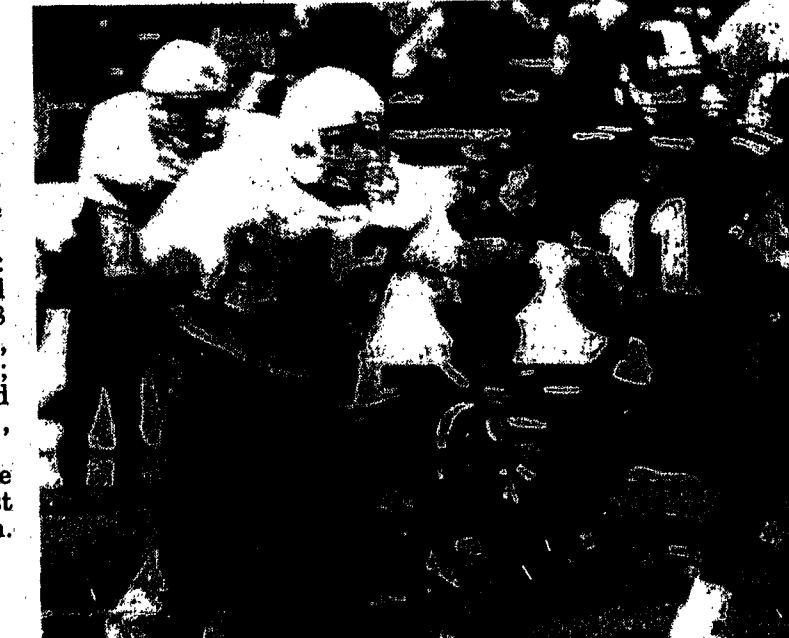

Next week, the Rock-A-Chaws, now 5-3, travel to Pearl River Central.

PRESSURE—Rock-A-Chaw Gary Ponthieux (#42) moves in on D'Iberville's quarterback to put on the pressure. The Rocks lost to the Warriors 31-28 in Friday night's game at D'Iberville to end their playoff drive. (Tom Ackerman photo)

Smokers' support group offered at Hancock Medical

For many smokers, the Great American Smokeout on Nov. 17 is the first day of what they hope will be the rest of their lives—as nonsmokers. But how will they make it through days two, three, four, etc.?

Perhaps by making a "FreshStart."

Hancock Medical Center will sponsor a smokers' group support program to help them "unlearn" their smoking behavior. "FreshStart" will be held Nov. 7, 9, 14 and 16 at Hancock Medical Center in the classroom.

The program is from 5 to 6 p.m. each day and consists of four one-hour sessions in a two week period, the last session being on the day of the Great American Smokeout: November 16.

The program is designed to help smokers identify some of the reasons they smoke and anticipate and prepare for difficulties in quitting. Classes are restricted to 15 people, and seating space is limited.

For more information about "FreshStart" or to reserve a place in the class, contact Hancock Medical Center at 467-9081 ext. 2200.

MINOR PAIN SHOULDN'T BE TREATED LIGHTLY.

PAIN OR STIFFNESS IN YOUR JOINTS COULD BE A WARNING OF ARTHRITIS.

Pain is your body's natural early warning system. It warns you of trouble before the damage becomes too severe. If you have pain or stiffness in a joint that won't go away, it could be a warning of developing arthritis. Over-the-counter pain relievers only mask the pain without treating the problem. Usually, only a specially-trained physician can do that. And although there's no cure for arthritis, in many cases the earlier it's professionally diagnosed and treated, the more that can be done to slow its effects.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

Whether your preference is for tart apples or the sweeter, more mellow ones, stop by the produce counters at area supermarkets for special harvest-fresh savings.

I'm taking alternate bites just now of a tart Granny Smith apple (on special at Jitney Jungle) and of sharp Cheddar cheese, from the selection at Winn-Dixie—a winning combination all around the clock and also one of my favorite finales to fall suppers or lunches.

National and Jitney Jungle also offer bags of Red Delicious apples at special savings, and apples are a prime choice at other area markets as well. And, as you know, apples aren't just for munching or for making pie!

Apples, along with other fruit, marry especially well with poultry or pork dishes, for instance. If you pick up a five-pound bag of chicken breast quarters at National, for example, you can vary the taste by mounding a combination of chopped apple and chopped orange segments and banana chunks, along with raisins, into the slight cavity before baking...delicious.

You can do the same with some of the chicken leg quarters on sale at National as well—or cook along with the drumsticks or thighs from Delchamps or the drums, thighs and wings from Winn-Dixie on special.

Or, pick up a sliced pork quarter loin, center or rib chops, on special at National, or pork steaks at Jitney Jungle, and add some fruit to the making of the dish. One of my favorites is:

DIXIE PORK CHOPS

8 pork chops
1/2 tsp. salt, same of sage
4 cored tart apples, sliced
1/4 cup brown sugar
2 Tbsp. flour
1 cup hot water
1 Tbsp. vinegar
1/2 cup seedless raisins
Brown the chops in the barest amount of fat or oil, and sprinkle with salt and sage. Place in a baking dish, and top with the apple rings. Sprinkle with the brown sugar. Add the flour to the fat in the skillet, blending well, then add the water and vinegar and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add the raisins, and pour over the chops. Bake in a 350-degree oven for an hour.

—from Southern Living's The Meats Cookbook

Or, try:

PORK CHOPS WITH KRAUT AND BAKED APPLES

1 1/4 cups drained sauerkraut
2 tsp. dried chopped chives
1/4 tsp. dillweed
6 loin pork chops, 1-inch thick
Pepper, salt to taste
7 Tbsp. melted butter or margarine
6 medium red apples
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 cup dark seedless raisins
1 cup chicken broth or bouillon
1 1/2 Tbsp. flour
1/2 cup cream (or half and half)

Combine the sauerkraut, chives and dillweed and place in a large, shallow baking dish. Sprinkle the pork chops with salt and pepper and brown in three tablespoons of butter, reserving two tablespoons of pork drippings in the skillet, when you remove chops.

Place chops on the sauerkraut bed. Core the apples and pare one inch of peeling from the top of each apple. Combine two tablespoons of butter with brown sugar and raising and stuff apples, then place apples at each end of the baking dish, and brush tops with remaining butter. Pour the broth over the chops, and cover the chops, only, with aluminum foil—not the apples.

Bake in 350-degree oven for an hour, basting chops and apples with pan liquid. Remove foil from chops and bake for 20 minutes longer or until chops and apples are tender, basting occasionally. Drain and reserve one cup of the broth, then heat the skillet with the reserved drippings, and stir in the flour. Add the reserved broth and boil for one minute, stirring constantly. Stir in the cream and heat through, but do not boil. Serve with the sauerkraut, chops and apples. (Six Servings)

—also from The Meats Cookbook

With that super-special price on ground turkey at Winn-Dixie you can cook up all sorts of healthful, lower fat, lower calorie dishes, such as:

GARDEN CASSEROLE

1 lb. ground turkey
1 cup sliced onion
1 green pepper, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup diced carrots
4 large tomatoes, quartered
Pepper, salt to taste
1 tsp. brown sugar
3 cups seasoned mashed potatoes

2 Tbsp. melted butter
Parsley sprigs
Brown the onions and ground turkey in the barest amount of oil, stirring around. Add the green pepper, celery, carrots, tomatoes and seasonings and sugar, and simmer for 20 minutes.

Pour into a 2-quart casserole and top with the potatoes. Brush with butter, and bake at 350 degrees until golden brown on top. Garnish with parsley sprigs.

And, if you've picked up a head of cabbage on special at Delchamps, make quick and easy:

CABBAGE ROLLS

10 large cabbage outer leaves
1 lb. ground turkey or beef
1 cup seasoned bread crumbs
1 can tomatoes, drained
1 large onion, chopped fine
Dash of Cinnamon, optional
Pepper, salt to taste
Briefly cook the cabbage leaves in just enough water to cover (two minutes, approximately) then drain and set aside. Mix the remaining ingredients, place on the cabbage leaves, roll and secure with toothpicks.

Wrap the rolls in foil and place in baking pan. Bake at 300 degrees for 40 minutes. (Four to six servings)

And, why not steam some broccoli (on special at Delchamps and Jitney Jungle) very briefly in very little, almost no water, with slices of lemon, then drizzle melted butter and crumbs over. Good!

Each year the American Legion Post No. 77 opens the hall for Halloween, October 31, for the children, and with the help of the auxiliary the children are kept off the streets. Doors open at 5:30 p.m.

Candy, pop-corn, cookies, grab bags, coffee and donuts, also prizes are given with the blowpops. This project is to help as many children as possible to be here next year.

Some Trick or Treat safety tips: Never go alone, stay in groups; carry a flashlight; walk don't run. Never go in areas where both sides of the streets are wooded areas. If you don't know the area, don't go. Have parents check candy or any other treats. Do not eat unwrapped candy.

Halloween safety coloring books will be given to the elementary schools.
